The Spinnaker Chair

For all you landlubbers, a spinnaker is a racing sail that captures the wind and speeds a boat to its destination. The Spinnaker chair, which is fashioned out of old and new sails, might do the same for you and your travel plans.

The spring-loaded chair helps you settle into the most comfortable angle for perusing guidebooks and travelogues. And you can customize it to fit your decor by choosing colors for the leather cushions and canvas backing—they will even use your old sails for added saltiness. You can also include your initials or a design such as a compass symbol.

These chairs don't come cheap, but you can rely on them to last, not only because of the hardy sail material but also because they're made by Hødnebo of Norway, which has been in the furniture business for over 100 years. As of March, the Spinnaker chairs will be available in the States at selected retailers, or you can order one now by calling 805-482-2900.

Take a seat and let your imagination set sail.
